PORTER RELEASES TALKING POINTS TO MEDIA

In a press release to the media of the 3rd Congressional District today, Democratic Congressional Candidate Dr. Steven Porter provided his talking points on the six issues which he considers critical to the 2006 elections.

“In an effort to maintain a positive, issues-oriented campaign,” said Dr. Porter, “I am providing the media with sound-byte talking points on the issues which I consider to be of essential importance to the electorate: the economy, national security, health care, social security and pensions, energy, and integrity.

“In virtually every respect, my positions differ from those of my opponent and the Bush Administration which his votes have consistently supported,” Porter continued. “It is because the policies of my opponent and the administration to which he is so tightly tethered have failed the people of the third district that I consider it so important to clearly articulate alternatives. We need a new direction, and I believe my ideas provide that direction.”

HAD ENOUGH? THERE IS A BETTER WAY!
